

TAX WITHHOLDING WAIVER ON ACCUMULATED INCOME PAYMENTS FROM RESPs

This form authorizes the promoter of your Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP) to not withhold tax on an accumulated income payment that you are entitled to receive from the RESP.

You can use this form if you are the subscriber of the RESP or, when there is no other subscriber, if you are the surviving spouse of a deceased subscriber and you meet all the following conditions:

- You include the accumulated income payment (AIP) as income on line 130 of your return for the year in which you received it.
- The promoter transfers the AIP directly to your Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) or your spouse's RRSP. The amount transferred cannot be more than the amount on line 8 of this form or the RRSP deduction limit shown on your Notice of Assessment for the preceding year, whichever is less. If you do not have your Notice of Assessment, you can get a copy from your tax services office.

- You deduct the amount transferred to your RRSP or spouse's RRSP on line 208 of your return for the year in which the transfer was made.
- You complete Form T1172, Additional Tax on Accumulated Income Payments from RESPs, to determine if you have to pay an additional tax on a portion or all of the AIPs you received.

Complete a separate waiver for each AIP you would like to have transferred to an RRSP by the promoter. Once you and the RESP promoter have completed and signed this waiver, the promoter will have the authority to not withhold tax on the AIP transferred to your RRSP or your spouse's RRSP. The promoter has to ensure that your RRSP deduction limit for the year is equal to or greater than the amount indicate on line 9 below. The promoter should keep a copy of this waiver, in case we ask to see it later.

For more information on RESPs, get the information sheet RC4092, Registered Education Savings Plans (RESPs), from your tax services office.
